China's governance is based on the Communist Ideology

The state visit of Xi Jinping, President of China appears like it was impressive. President Rodrigo Duterte showed it as a well-planned preparation – from the welcome party at the airport and at Malacañang.

We still have to wait however for a detailed content of the 29 agreements signed by both presidents if all of them redown to our benefit and advantage and is it a hopeful new era of bilateral relations for cooperation to seek peace at the South China sea?

One thing however hangs uneasy in the inner systems of Filipinos. China is a Communist country; the Philippines a democracy. The Communist ideology runs counter to democratic principles in governance. We should be vigilant at watching future events. With the promise of China to assist us in development efforts to improve our economy and other aspects of progress, will it in the long run influence in changing our ideological stand from democracy to communism? Just a thought. Nothing is impossible. But Filipinos support democracy and this fear might still be far-fetch. Anyway who knows? Let us just be vigilant, alert and watchful.

Uneasy thoughts troubling my mind

The United States of America has been relegated far – away and out of what used to be our close di-lomatic relations that have lasted for over 7 decades already. Now the US is replaced in the heart of President Digong by the People's Republic of China.

In a formal ceremony the issue got magnified with the state visit of President Xi Jinping of China to the Philippines and was enthusiastically welcomed by President Duterte. In that dinner ceremony in Malacañang both leaders signed 29 memoranda of understanding what to expect in this new historical friendly development.

-oOo-
The United States rule their lives through their government under a democratic form. The Philippines likewise is a democracy.

China is similar to Russia that is guided by a communist ideology. The two ideologies, democracy and communism contain contradictions; principles in the way government is run.

There are 7 basic principles of communism that run counter to democratic ideals. They contradict.

-oOo-
The Communist Party of the Philippines and its armed component the New People's Army (CPP-NPA) have been waging rebellion or armed struggle to topple down our duly established democratic system that have been already in operation for over a half century now.

During those years of conflict they would have a kind of mini-success like establishing a shadow government in NPA controlled barangays but they do not last long, as they are taken back to their former status after a short while.

These rebel groups at times provide support to left-leaning political candidates, sympathetic to their cause in Congress or even in local government units, but not much could be done to advance their causes.

-oOo-
With our very close relationship with China now, it is possible that the CPP-NPA now heave a sigh of hope for support for their cause. China will certainly enjoy access to see Uneasy /page 9 ...

Mercy and fullness of redemption

WHAT a consoling and reassuring psalm! It should always be in our heart and on our lips. It is what gives light when darkness descends on our life. It makes a life-stirring impulse when things seem to be dead.

Psalm 130,7 tells us where we can find this guaranteed mercy and fullness of redemption. It is with God who has deigned to become man and to assume all our sins, rendering death to them with his own death on the cross, and conquering them with his resurrection.

We should have no doubt whatsoever that on the part of God, everything is already given to us so we can be what we ought to be—children of God, sharers of God's life. Any doubt in this regard can only come from the devil.

Whatever happens in our life, as long as we are open to God's will and ways, even if that openness is unarticulated, God's mercy will always have the last word. Our redemption is assured. God's will is clearly for our redemption, though we, free as we are, can reject that divine will.

Yes, we may die with sins still in our hearts, with failures and weaknesses still unresolved, but as long as we are open to God's mercy by not blaspheming the Holy Spirit which is the only sin that cannot be forgiven, our redemption would be at hand.

Remember Christ just moments before giving up his spirit. "Forgive them, Father," he said, "for they know not what they are doing." (Lk 23,34) He even looked for excuses for those who crucified him! And let's also remember that we, with all our sins, contribute in the end in the crucifixion of Christ.

This does not mean that we do not do our part in our own redemption. Christ himself has clearly told us what to do—from denying ourselves and carrying our cross, to praying without ceasing, to following the Church authorities, etc. What he wants us to do are clearly spelled out in the commandments that he gave and the many promptings and inspirations that can come to us like a wind that blows from nowhere.

We should avoid falling into presumption and even tempting God. God wants us to give our all to him just as he gives his all also to us. He has given us various instruments so we can attain the fullness of our humanity, as attested by St. Paul when he said:

"God gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ..." (Eph 4,11-13)

Let us take full advantage of everything that God has given us not only for our redemption but also for the perfection of our humanity. God wants us recovered in our fullness, not only partially.

Of course, in the gospel Christ once said that in our struggle to enter heaven, we should be willing to lose an eye or an arm if that should become necessary (cfr. Mt 18,8-9). But once we get to heaven, everything that we lose here on earth due to our struggles will be restored in full.

Again, it's good to repeat in our mind, heart and lips that reassuring psalm of God's mercy and the fullness of his redemption so that we would always be motivated by God's love in all our earthly affairs, especially when we encounter difficulties, setbacks, failures, and even temptations and sin.

That would surely enliven our faith and keep us united with God in all the events of our day.

Queries on my story

Some students from a certain university have been contacting me lately, asking me a few questions about one of my stories, Fire Extinguisher, which they are taking up in a literature subject. These students are investigating as to how much authorial intrusion, or presence, is there in that story as they approach it via biographical criticism. The following outlines those questions as well as my answers:

1. What biographical facts has the author used?

The author used biographical facts such as his familiarity with Cebu City, his constant trips to this city when he was yet taking up his master's at the University of San Carlos and his doctorate at Cebu Normal University. He used to go there via Ormoc, boarding ships and/or fast ferries. He frequented Colon St., brushing shoulders with passers-by, and watching people go to and fro along the busy street as they hurried to their various destinations.

From A Distance

JOEY E. CLARIN

Ang Probinsyano

The TV show "Ang Probinsyano" is the most popular local TV show nowadays that people from all walks of life are glued to their TV set just after the TV Patrol news which ends at 7:30 PM. This TV show made actor Coco Martin the most popular actor today that he is now called the new Fernando Poe Jr. in honor of the late "Da King". The theme of this popular prime time TV show reflects on our present political system portraying corrupt politicians and PNP officers portraying the corrupt and illegal activities of our policemen in this country. It projects that majority of the PNP is corrupt.

This drew the ire of PNP Chief Oscar Albayalde who complained of the wrongful portrayal of the PNP officers as corrupt and ineffective. It has stopped lending logistics to the show such as firearms, vehicles being used as props and shooting locations in police headquarters.

3. In what ways does the author view his life as "typical"? Or In what ways does the author view his life as significant or extraordinary?

He views his life as typical in terms of being part of the crowd—in the boat, along the busy street, among passengers, together with ordinary people who are prone to fall victims to evil schemes. He views his life as significant or extraordinary in terms of his heightened sensitivity to mankind's plight in life, his keen observance of people's behaviors, his passion to investigate and dig deep into human emotions, and his resolve to document them all.

4. What aspects of the author's personal life are relevant to this story?

Personally, the author hates swindlers and the like, or persons who make fools of others, who cheat and trick poor victims, who delight over their victims' misery. He has had his share of being fooled in some other ways, to the point of wishing them dead. But since he is not that murderer to run after those villains, he finds it wise to just expose some of their modus operandi so that, with sufficient knowledge, people will be warned against their schemes.

5. Which of the author's stated beliefs are reflected in the work? He believes that urban centers are infested with burglars who are roaming

Part of 'Yolanda' anniversary

Second year of 'Saving Race' a resounding success, says An Waray party-list group TACLOBAN CITY – The second edition of the An Waray party-list sponsored 'Saving Race 2' was a resounding success.

The Saving Race, patterned after the popular Amazing Race, was held as part of the An Waray party-list activities relative to the observance of the anniversary on the onslaught of super typhoon 'Yolanda' that pummeled the region on November 8, 2013, said former congressman Florencio 'Bem' Noel, the party-list number one nominee for next year's elections.

Saving Race, as designed by the An Waray party-list group, is a competition that challenges the teams' mental resilience and physical strength during a disaster or emergency situation.

All tasks or challenges are related to disaster management and preparedness.

They move around the city's main streets or areas where clues are being provided or for the competing teams are to perform a certain task, either as a group or by a single member of the group.

This year's winners were the following: first prize Tribu Harbat of Tacloban city, Agnes E. Cablao (Captain), Kenth Ralph Abolon, and Thomas Oliver G. Corduwa; 2nd prize La Familia Roos of Tacloban

City, Klint Andrew G. Tan (Captain), Sharmaine Callosa and Melchor Bustillo; 3rd place Triskellion of San Jose, Tacloban City, Eric De Veyra Jr. (Captain), Hannah T. Dioquino and John Gerez; 4th prize of Palo Skim Club of Palo Leyte, William P. Teraza (Captain), Kendy T. DPWH Eastern Visayas lowers 2020 outlay proposal

PALO, Leyte -- The Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) in the region has proposed a lower and "more realistic" budget for 2020 in a bid to raise the chance of its approval in the national level.

From the P123.12 billion proposed for 2019, the infrastructure agency had cut its proposal to P61.11 billion for 2020.

Even with the lower outlay request, DPWH Regional Director Nerie Bueno believes that the entire amount would not be approved.

"Maybe half of the proposal for 2020 will be approved. I'm not pessimistic, I am just realistic. Historically, we only got 10 percent higher than the actual budget in the previous year," Bueno said during the Regional Development Council's (RDC) infrastructure committee meeting here on Wednesday (Nov.21).

For 2019, only 22 percent or P27.4 billion of the P123.12 billion budget endorsed by the RDC has been included in the National Expenditure Program. The DPWH regional chief expects additional budget next year from special projects and fund realignments.

"The disadvantage of proposing huge budget is that the national government does not consider the proposal for more critical projects. We have to wait for another year and make another proposal and endorsement," Bueno added.

Phil. Army hits NPA in Samar anew

ORAS, Eastern Samar - Troops of Charlie Company, 14th Infantry (Avenger) Battalion, and Philippine Army encountered 10 Communist Party of the Philippines-New People's Army terrorists (CNTs) in the area of Barangay Concepcion, Paranas, Samar on November 20, 2018 at 7:50 pm.

While the troops were conducting their combat operations in the area to confirm presence of armed men in the said barangay, they were fired upon by the armed CNTs that prompted a firefight that lasted for 10 minutes that forced the CNTs to scamper to different directions.

During clearing operations in the area, soldiers recovered from the encounter site two improvised explosive device, one rifle grenade, empty magazines and empty shells of AK46, M16 and M14.

"We continue to validate and confirm information regarding the casualties of the fleeing CNTs. On the other hand, our engaged troops are safe with no casualty", said Lt.Col. Jimmy V. Jimenez, commanding officer of the 14th IB, 8ID, PA.

Lt.Col. Jimenez further explained that the Stormtroopers through the Avenger Battalion will continue to intensify offensive against the CNTs in the area of Samar "to degrade their armed components to further eradicate the CNTs by 2019 in our area of operations".

"Rest assured that our battalion will remain to be vigilant in performing our mandated task to serve the Waraynon and in securing the island of Samar", Lt. Col. Jimenez added. (PR) relief. The people are now hungry. Its ok if it's only the clothes that were wet as these could be dried. We really need foods. We don't have food supplies for our people as our town was rendered isolated after a landslide occurred in Barangay Roxas," Mato said.

Brgy. Roxas is the town's entry point in going to the nearby town of Arteche, which was also hit by a massive flooding.

He also said a landslide reportedly occurred in Brgy.Catumsan, Arteche and is just adjacent to Brgy.Roxas.

Mato also said that aside from food supplies, the town also immediately need medicines as various diseases may affect its residents due to flooding.

He added that practically all the 13 barangays of the town, populated with 2,556 families or more than 15,500 people, experienced flooding that even two-storey houses were submerged by rain water.

He said Jipapad easily experienced massive flooding whenever there is a continuous rains as it served as a 'catch basin' from water coming from Oras and Binuwangan Rivers.

"We really need help. Our power and communication lines are still down," Mato said.

He added that flood water have receded on several villages of the town but there are still areas in the town where flood water remain.

The Leyte Samar Daily Express was able to reach Mato as he happened to be in Oras town when he was sought for a phone interview on the situation of their town, 155 kms away from the provincial capitol of Borongan City.

According to him, he learned on the situation of their town through radio messages from members of the town's Kabalikhat Civicom.

He said that based on the initial assessment of their Municipal Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Office, about 35 houses were washed out due to Samuel.

6. What seem to be the author's major concerns? Do they reflect any of the writer's personal experiences?

The presence of bad elements in society concerns the author partly. These are folks to guard against. Unfortunately, majority of people do not take the necessary precautions; only after they get victimized. From personal experience and observation, these burglars are heartless, rid of conscience and pity. Hence it concerns the author that some good people, and poor at that, are taken for victims by these criminals.

7. Do any of the events in the story correspond to events experienced by the author?

As mentioned, some events in the story are drawn from the author's experiences, like walking along Colon St., bumping into people in the crowd.

But the major events in the plot, of course, are fictionalized.

8. Do any of the characters in the story correspond to real people?

Of course, some characters correspond to real people—like hardware sales ladies, jeepney drivers, passengers in vehicles, crowds in the streets, etc. Moreover, he could see himself in the main character, being a good-hearted man, yet an object of evil schemes. His experiences of being victimized by villainous individuals continue up to now, in various ways, hence the hero's symbolism of him in some aspects.

Ome died on the spot while Gaga died while being treated at the St. Scholastica Hospital in Pambujan town.

Laoang town police chief, Chief Inspector Manuel Castillo, told Leyte Samar Daily Express that the explosion happened around 3:40 pm Thursday inside a house owned by Natalia Capas but was being rented by one Dario Ayes, said to be a former policeman.

It was not yet established what is the relationship of Ayes to the victims.

The explosion was so huge that it was reportedly heard by residents in the neighboring barangays.

An employee of the Department of Public Works and Highways-second district Engineering Office situated in Brgy. Burabod, two kilometers away from the scene of the incident, said their office was shaken due to the impact of the explosion.

The investigating team from the PNP Explosive Ordnance Division (EOD) recovered hundreds of blasting caps, a sack of detonating cords and time fuse.

These are materials that are used in making improvised explosive device (IED) according to the military.

The police are still investigating the kind of explosive that blew up which killed and wounded the victims.

Donato, Cuanico, and Ayes were detained at the Laoang Police station as they are considered suspects in the incident.

PO2 Eleazar Diu, investigator-on-case, said they would be filing charges against the suspects for violation of sections 1 and 2 of Republic Act 9516 on illegal possession and manufacture of explosives.

GCP's annual generators conference continues thrust for better grid operations

The National Grid Corporation of the Philippines (NGCP) held its Annual Generators Conference on October 23 in Seda Hotel, Quezon City for Luzon, and on November 7 in Radisson Blu Hotel, Cebu for Visayas and Mindanao, pursuant to the stipulations of the Philippine Grid Code.

With the theme "Strength in Harmony," the conference brings together energy stakeholders from the generation sector and regulating bodies to discuss the power grid's operational and performance highlights, the power situation outlook for the next calendar year, NGCP's plans and programs, including recently completed projects, and other transmission grid connection and situational briefings.

"Every year, we bring together all our partners from the generation sector to see how we can further improve and create a seamlessly running system," said NGCP. "Our partners are important as all of us in the power industry are advancing technologies and improving operations, therefore we always need to be in the same page for us to keep the grid in optimal condition, and to prove the strength of the Philippine power industry," added the company.

Apart from the Generators Conference, NGCP also conducts an Annual Blackout Tabletop and Simulation Drill, which seeks to ready the grid and its customers during a potential blackout scenario, and Annual Grid Operations Mode Analysis Conference, to evaluate the impact of NGCP's current and future projects, and external factors such as the growing power demand, to the country's transmission grid.

"Our yearly events are in place to assess our yearly performance and to make sure that we have set all possible contingency plans in any given situation. These events are integral to our operations, and they give us an avenue to build better relationships and more open communication lines with our customers," NGCP stated.

NGCP is a Filipino-led, privately owned company in charge of operating, maintaining, and developing the country's power grid, led by majority shareholders Henry Sy, Jr. and Robert Coyiuto, Jr. (PR)

National Grid Corporation of the Philippine and CEO Anthony L. Almeda delivered his keynote message during the annual Generators' Conference.

Chief Supt. Carlos says EV remains peaceful amid killing of a Muslim militant in Ormoc City TACLOBAN CITY – Chief Supt. Dionardo Carlos, police regional director, assured the public that Eastern Visayas remain to be peaceful.

Carlos made this assurance in the wake of the killing of an alleged member of a terror group in Ormoc City and the explosion incident in Laoang, Northern Samar that killed two people and injured two others.

Carlos said that police operatives and other law enforcement agencies in the region are conducting intelligence gathering and monitoring to ensure that no terror group will even enter the region.

"We are doing our best to monitor everything especially in the southern part to ensure that all threat groups will not able to enter Eastern Visayas," the police regional director said.

The ports in southern part of the region including Ormoc City has a link to Mindanao and Cebu that can be used by unscrupulous people, to include terror group.

"So we monitor these areas to ensure that all threat groups would not spread chaos in the region. If there is violation of law, then we take precautionary measures so that we will not be caught off guard of their presence," Carlos said.

But Carlos said that they could only do much reason they still need the help and cooperation of the public.

"If they see suspicious people in their area, they should immediately report it to the police station so that we can monitor these people," Carlos said.

On Thursday (November 22), a joint forces from the 802nd Brigade, the PNP and the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group killed Joseph Anulga, alias Dawud, which military believed was linked to Dawlah Islamiya, in a buy-bust operation.

Report from the authorities said that Anulga was involved in gun running activities and tried to recruit local residents of Ormoc to convert into Islam.

The military also linked Anulga to Yusof Macuto, the main suspect in a foiled bombing try at the US Embassy in 2016 and the Hilongos, Leyte, bombing incident on December 28, 2016 that injured more than 30 people, some of them were children.

Meanwhile, two men were killed and two others were injured when a bomb exploded in Barangay Bubulosan, Laoang, Northern Samar, also on Thursday. The victims were identified as Ome Inocentes and Gaga Solana, both from San Antonio, Northern Samar while injured were Junjun Donato and Nilo Cuanico.

Initial report from PNP Laoang said that the explosion happened in a house rented by a certain Dario Ayes, said to be a former policeman.

The house was allegedly used by them in making improvised explosive devices. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

FEATURE

'Yolanda' memories and hopes

At 47, Elena Abayan, felt there was no more chance to get a share and enjoy a bit of life's little comforts. She works all day responding to neighbors' calls for errands, from cooking to house cleaning and doing the dirty clothes in their laundry.

She would get a measly P500 by the end of the day, good enough to buy her family's food and children's school needs.

This was Abayan's routine, so toxic and exhausting who is unfortunate to have a lazy husband.

But being the economist for her children, she neglected her weary flesh and thoughts bearing in mind the future of her children, whom she aspired to achieve a better life than hers.

She continued the daily reeling for the precious day's income. She also bore the suffering of sharing a small house with her husband's family until super typhoon "Yolanda" struck with its storm surge gulping their house instantly.

Fortunately, the rushing water inland and outland did not grab any of the kids from her sight until the flood subsided. They all survived.

It was five years ago. Now, Elena opts to send those sad memories with the gushing of Yolanda waters toward the higher seas, and choose instead to thank the blessings she and her children have received from generous people and organizations.

As she reflects, Yolanda was both good and bad.

While the disaster wrecked many a people's lives, it is the same calamity that gave her a "blessing in disguise".

Being a beneficiary of the government's housing program she now owns a unit she calls home to her family. It is located in a resettlement area to the north of the city where other victims of the disaster have likewise found their permanent place to live.

The area is far from the noisy city streets but Abaya and the rest of her neighbors feel there is better security and opportunity to live a peaceful and more comfortable place that is still surrounded with hills and abounding lush green forest, giving them a fresh morning breeze.

"Even if we are new in our place, and even if my source of income is far from our place, for me, I consider our small community a peaceful and safe place to live in," she said.

"I know our place will ultimately become progressive because I am sure we will be taken care of by the government under the leadership of President Rodrigo Duterte who is determined to help poor people like us," Abaya added.

She still continues to work for her family as her source of income, but she can now concentrate better on her job even as she leaves behind her children for work knowing they are in a better and secured home.

The Yolanda survivor remains hopeful for a continued improvement of their lives with other victims, through government interventions. She believes and fully trusts in the integrity of government's effort for the less privilege few.

November 8 for her is not only a day to recall the catastrophe and sufferings but also a day to celebrate for the resilience of the people and above all, a day to thank the Almighty for the extension of life, a life more resilient and full of hope.

"Though it is painful for me to remember the date because I also have relatives and friends who perished during the typhoon, we also have to accept the reality and be hopeful in order to have a peaceful and bright future," Abaya said.

"The sad experience on Yolanda will never be forgotten but we also have to appreciate the positive aspect it has brought to us. Let us bear in mind that the government is always ready to help us, most especially our God, the Almighty," she added, reminding other disaster survivors who keep on whining and complaining of their situation despite being provided with assistance from the government.

Abaya was among those who witnessed the activities of relative to the fifth Yolanda Commemorative Anniversary held last November 8 at the Tacloban City Astrodome where a series of activities were conducted such as wreath-laying in honor of the departed victims of the super typhoon, followed by a commemorative program and candle-lighting ceremony.

The commemorative activities were not only held in Tacloban City, but also in some parts of the region, especially in areas most hit by the disaster. (GTT/PIA-Leyte)

Barangay information officers in Maasin City undergo writeshop training

MAASIN CITY- Designated information officers in their respective barangays gathered on Thursday, Nov. 15, for a communicators writeshop/training under the E-Power Mo campaign of the Department of Energy (DOE).

The city has 70 barangays, and each barangay sent a kagawad or the punong barangay himself to be the barangay information officer (BIO) while some personnel for city offices were also present to represent their heads.

Invited speakers were from the Southern Leyte Electric Cooperative (Soleco), who were tapped in behalf of the DOE.

In the morning, several topics were thoroughly discussed by the Soleco personnel, including power-saving tips, know-your-cooperative, and patronage credit, among others, while some technical matters were also raised during the open forum.

BIOs then went on a writeshop in the afternoon so they can practice writing news stories about developments that happened in their barangays, or from the topics Soleco personnel earlier discussed.

This was the second gathering of information officers of the city. The first was held last month in which they were taught on writing a one-sentence news lead.

This time they were taught basic tips other than lead sentence or paragraph, such as the support lead, details, and backgrounder, to complete a five or six-sentence news story, in a one sentence, one paragraph format.

Alleged Muslim militant gun runner killed in Ormoc City

TACLOBAN CITY- A joint intelligence operations conducted by police and military operatives resulted in the death of a suspected ISIS-linked member in Ormoc City.

Killed was Joseph Anulga Jr., who was reportedly into gun running activity, after he resisted arrest during a buy-bust operation with members of the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group (CIDG) along sitio Lawis of Barangay Airport about 8 am on Thursday (November 22).

CIDG Northern Leyte Chief P/Supt Marvin Pedere said that Anulga, who was also known as Dawud, pulled a caliber .45 pistol and tried to shoot it out with the operatives when he sensed that he was dealing with police operatives.

But other operatives, who acted as security to the buy-bust, shot the suspect, hitting him at his head which resulted to his instant death.

Supt. Ma Bella Rentuaya, regional spokesperson of the Philippine National Police, said Anulga resisted arrest during the buy-bust operation conducted by Criminal Investigation and Detection Group in connection with his gun running activities.

ulga were two units of caliber .45 pistol, one improvised explosive device, P10,000 used to procure the firearm, and one motorcycle.

Brigadier General Lope Dagoy, commanding officer of the 802nd Brigade based in Ormoc, said that Anulga is set to go on "Hijrah" to join the local terrorist group in Mindanao and intends to die as a martyr of Islam.

Anulga was said to have pledged allegiance to Daesh and its recognized caliph, Abu Bakr Al Baghdadi.

"Anulga is a direct associate of the late Yusuf Macuto. Macuto was involved in a foiled plot to bomb the US Embassy last November 2016 and the main suspect in the Hilongos(in Leyte) bombing last December 2016, and was killed during the Marawi siege," said Dagoy in a press statement.

"Anulga's death shows the government's conviction in protecting the people from these lawless elements. This is a clear message that your AFP and PNP will not allow neither tolerate terror groups in our midst," he added.

Ormoc City Mayor Richard Gomez, in a message he posted on his Facebook account, maintained that the government "will not tolerate any acts and personalities who can and may bring harm and terrorism in Ormoc."

"The PNP and the Army will work hard to take them out of our city by all means," he said.

Meanwhile, businesswoman Lalaine Marcos of Rotary Club of Ormoc Bay thanked the police and military for acting right away against Anulga.

"I think Ormoc has nothing to worry about the incident. This shows that our Army and PNP are getting A-1 intelligence (report) that is why the alleged ISIS member was caught. We are very proud that Ormoc is the safest city in the Philippines and want to keep it that way," she said.

Under the said order, state forces shall suppress lawless violence and acts of terror.

"Whereas, there is a need to reinforce the directive of the President in order to prevent further loss of lives and destruction of property and bring the whole country back to a state of complete normalcy as quick as possible," part of the memorandum order states.

Captain Francis Agno, spokesperson of the 8th Infantry Division based in Catbalogan City, said that there was nothing surprising on the directive of the President as there is an ongoing recruitment for new state soldiers for the region.

"The personnel of the 46th Infantry Battalion are also back from Eastern Mindanao and we are still waiting for the return of the 34th IB and 19th IB to the region. But there is still no exact date yet if when the remaining troops in Mindanao will come back to Eastern Visayas," he said.

During the Visayas Joint Peace and Security Coordinating Council held, Monday, November 19 in Tacloban City, Major General Raul Farnacio, commanding officer of the 8TH ID, said that the shooting incidents that happened in Samar were indications that lawless elements are starting to operate in the province.

Last November 18, the former mayor of Matuguinao, Allan Boller, escaped from a slay try on him while former mayor of San Jose de Buan was also ambushed on October 8. He later died while being treated at the Eastern Visayas Regional Medical Center, this city.

Harassment targeting supporters of certain politicians were also reported in Matuguinao and Calbayog City.

"These are the things that are traditionally happening in Samar province which we are looking into to address by making security preparation," Farnacio said.

Both the military and the Philippine National Police and the military are monitoring presence of private armed groups and members of the New People's Army that could affect the security and peace and order in the province.

“Generation Amazing Festival/Sama Sama Games 2018 — Using sports to bring together youth and promote greater educational opportunity for all”

On 6-9th December 2018, the province of Cebu will host the Generation Amazing National Festival/Sama-Sama Games, a sports and education festival bringing together over 600 children and youth from across the Philippines.

Through play, they will advocate for greater inclusivity and opportunity for all. The festival is powered by Generation Amazing, a football-focused corporate social development programme of the Supreme Committee for Delivery & Legacy, Qatar’s delivery and legacy authority for the 2022 FIFA World Cup™.

The festival, organized and hosted by FundLife, a locally-based organization founded after Typhoon Yolanda, and working with its local Cebu-based partner, Giuseppe Football Club, carries the theme “We are all ONE” – using sport as a level playing field to bring together youth from both the underserved and the more advantageous communities, uniting them through dignity and equality.

“Sport and football in particular, is incredibly powerful at bringing polarized youth together and empowering them to dream big. We’re excited about bring this festival to the province of Cebu, where educational access can lead to legitimate employment opportunities for so many young people,” Marko Kasic, FundLife Founder and managing director, says.

To promote gender equality and increase community participation, there will be 9 different categories from Under 7’s to Under 18’s for the festival with over 250 female players taking part. Unlike traditional football tournaments, the Generation Amazing Festival/Sama Sama Games promotes equal opportunity through harmony, dignity and equality by having 36 trophies up for grabs for the 72 teams joining – increasing participation and opportunity for all players, regardless of skill.

The festival will also celebrate the launch of the Community Football Girls League to promote greater access to sport and education for girls living in at-risk communities.

The action kicks-off on the 6th of December with 24 young leaders from underserved communities in Manila, Davao and Tacloban, flying to Cebu for a two-day educational and training seminar before they join the 72-team Futsal tournament on the 9th of December. The festival concludes with a special performance from local community dance groups. (PR)

‘Samuel’ leaves 1 dead while over 11,000 families displace due to floods in Eastern and Northern Samar provinces

TACLOBAN CITY
— A 23-year-old man was drowned and 11,700 families were displaced when tropical depression “Samuel” dumped heavy rain and flooded 12 towns in Northern Samar and Eastern Samar on Wednesday(Nov.22).

Rescuers found the body of Ronel Quibal floating on the river at Barangay Magsaysay in Palapag town, Northern Samar, around 1:20 pm, about 21 hours after he was reported missing.

Quibal was swept by strong current while crossing the rampaging river aboard a motorcycle in Barangay Paysud, Palapag.

Seven towns in Northern Samar, including Palapag, were flooded, affecting 1,319 families, or 17,779 people, according to the Provincial Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Office which is headed by Rei Josiah Echano. The other towns were Mapanas, Pambujan, San Roque, Gamay, Lope de Vega and San Isidro.

The evacuees sought refuge in public schools and barangay halls that were on high and safe ground.

There were landslides in Barangay Mirador, Mondragon town and Barangays Nipa and Maragano in Palapag but no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

In Eastern Samar, 10,398 families, or 40,601 people, fled rising waters in the towns of Oras, Arteche, Guiuan, San Julian and Sulat.

As many as 4,488 families, most of them living near riverbanks, were afected by the flood, said Mayor Vivienne Alvarez. Many started heading home when the water subsided hours later.
