On Speakership issue

Gov. Mic OKs FM issue on 1 condition

JOEY A. GABIETA

TACLOBAN CITY- Leyte Governor Leopoldo Dominico 'Mic' Petilla is willing to support the speakership bid of Rep. Ferdinand Martin 'FM' Romualdez on condition that he will espouse programs similar with those of his administration.

Rep. Romualdez (1st district) is considered to be among the leading contenders for the Speakership for the incoming 18th Congress, a post currently occupied by outgoing congresswoman, former President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo.

The Petillas and the Romualdezes are not politically allies and though they have yet to contest in same post in Leyte, they have figured in a dummy political war by fielding their candidates for other elective posts like for mayor.

And of the five congressional representatives of Leyte, to include the party-list An Waray, only Romualdez is not within the camp of the Petillas.

Two of them are relatives of the governor, Vicente 'Ching' Veloso (3rd district), who is an uncle, and Carl Nicholas Cari (5th district), a nephew.

The two other congressional representatives of Leyte are reelected Rep. Lucy Torres Gomez (4th district) and Karen Javier, a neophyte politician who defeated incumbent congressman Henry Ong for the second district.

Gov. Petilla supports Pres. Duterte's move to revive ROTC in school

TACLOBAN CITY- Leyte Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla expressed his support on the move to have the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) revived as mandated by President Rodrigo Duterte.

According to the governor, the planned revival of ROTC is timely as the country faces 'threat' not only from within but even from outside forces.

"The idea is good. The more that we need to with the ongoing threat," Petilla said during the interview after he led the provincial ceremony of the 122th Philippine Independence Day held at the provincial capitol building, this city.

Petilla, who chairs the Provincial Peace and Order Council, made mention on the ongoing dispute between the Philippines and China on the West Philippine Sea as a reason why he supports the revival of the ROTC.

"Anyway, it's only in case of emergency. Today is Independence Day, it's better if we will show our love for our country," he added.

Pres. Duterte had earlier certified a bill for the revival of the ROTC as urgent saying it is needed for

DPWH-Biliran DEO implements additional flood control projects under 2018 fund

The Department of Public Works and Highways in Biliran is in the midst in constructing two major flood control projects located in Barangay Mapuyo in Kawayan and Brgy. Busali in Biliran town(as shown in photo above)

NAVAL, Biliran-The Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH)- Biliran District Engineering Office (DEO) is implementing additional two flood control projects under its 2018 fund.

These flood control projects are implemented at Barangay Mapuyo in Kawayan town and in Brgy. Busali in Biliran town.

District Engineer David P. Adongay Jr. said that these projects are currently on-going with an accomplishment of 50% and 20%, respectively as of May 31, 2019.

“The funds for the additional flood control projects are late release of the 2018 budget under the local infrastructure program, hence also the late in implementation” said Adongay.

According to Adongay, these flood control projects were prioritized to protect the community and agricultural products against flooding and damages.

“There is an urgent need for the completion of these projects especially that it is already rainy season,” said Adongay.

The P9.63 million construction of Busali flood control project entails the construction of a 156-linear meter length on both sides of the river with a height of 3.5-meter. This project is target to be completed on June 30,2019.

Meanwhile, the Mapuyo Flood Control project entails the construction and reconstruction of revetment structure with a total length of 192-linear meter on both sides and a height of 3.5-meter with a contract cost of P14.46 million.

This project is set to be completed on September 23, 2019.

Adongay revealed that the portion of the existing flood control structure in Mapuyo River was damaged during tropical storm “Urduja” in December 2017 due to the impact of the washed out debris, thus the need for a reconstruction of a 65-linear meter length on one side of the river.

Adongay said that with the additional project, Biliran DEO now has a total of 62 projects implemented under 2018 fund from only 60 projects.

Out of the 62 projects, 52 were already completed while 10 are on-going with an overall accomplishment of 91.97% as of May 31, 2019.

On-going projects includes four access roads leading to tourist destinations, one slope protection project, one bypass road, one bridge widening, one multipurpose building and two flood control projects. (PR)

Government leaders: Restore PHILHEALTH's credibility ASAP!!

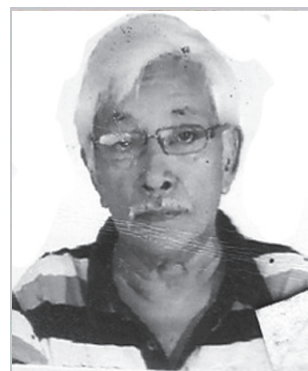

PHILIPPINE Health Insurance Corporation (PHILHEALTH) has been known to be a very commendable and trusted agency in government by our people especially those who have availed of its services in times of sickness. What is impressive is it serves all levels of people's economic states – no one is left out.

Of course, the poor, the less privileged in society have been served effectively by the agency. In fact even in the present discovery of graft and corruption in cahoots with Welmed Dialysis Center and probably other private institutions, the corruption expose does not hamper the operation of PHIL-

HEALTH until now and certainly even later. The government therefore has a big problem – that of the the immediate restoration of its credibility. Government should move fast in arresting these PhilHealth and Welmed officials involved in corruption. Put them behind bars!!!

Replacement should follow – but this time there has to be an effective screening process that this time they must or employ those who possess unquestionable credibility.

It would be wise if the President organize a team responsible in the efficient screening of probable appointees. He must not trust his own personal judgment who to replace those corrupt officials in this agency.

Commentary

Gospel-reading

WE should try our best to develop the habit of reading and meditating on the gospel regularly, if not daily. It is the living word of God, the record of Christ's life and teachings meant to effect in us our transformation into 'another Christ,' Christ who is the pattern of our humanity and the savior of our damaged humanity. The gospel is not just a historical book nor is it only some literary piece for our cultural enrichment. It is what the Letter to the Hebrews describes as: "The word of God, alive and active, sharper than any double-edged sword. It penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow. It judges the thoughts and attitude of the heart." (4,12) We have to have the proper disposition when reading and meditating on it. We have to approach it with faith and piety, convinced that everything that is said there, though historically and culturally conditioned, has a transcendent quality that makes it relevant to us at all times. Actually reading and meditating on the gospel or the whole Sacred Scripture is like having an encounter with God, with Christ. St. Jerome, one of the Fathers of the Church, expressed this truth beautifully when he said: "Ignorance of the Scriptures is ignorance of Christ." He also said: "When we pray, we speak to God. But when we read, God speaks to us."

We have to understand then that gospel-reading is very important in our lives. It should be given priority over any other readings we may have, since it is what would guide us and give us the proper perspective within which to consider all our other readings.

It might be good to remit here the text of the Vatican II document, Dei verbum (11 & 12), that explains or describes the inspired character of the Bible, particularly the gospel, and how we should interpret it.

"Those divinely revealed realities which are contained and presented in Sacred Scripture have been committed to writing under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. For its happening may just be the best solution.

The adage that states prevention is better than cure is not only applicable to our physical and medical condition. It too is applicable to other aspects of life where we have the power to prevent the occurrence of problems. That power of prevention should be used in problems affecting government and society. We are aware of many policies that are directed at solving rather than preventing problems. It seems hightime for policymakers to take redirection and set its target on prevention.

This brings us to current government advocacies that prevent problems albeit reactively at the end of the line. We are aware of government drives such on laws banning smoking, the disposal of solid waste to the environment, not even in open dumpsites. The burden of prevention is imposed on the end-user in the case of cigarette smoking. The smoker

Things To Mind

DOMS PAGLIAWAN

Did the giants exist?

Just like me, you may have noticed that giants have had prominent places in literature, in the Bible, in history, in archaeology, in engineering, and even in the media. Had the idea of their existence been just confined to literature, then we could easily dismiss it as nothing but a product of human imagination.

But, as it does, the imagery of extraordinarily huge humanoids once inhabiting the earth extends to other fields thereby confirming, beyond research's required triangulation, that these creatures existed for real, under normal circumstances, and were not just by-products of abnormalities in their supposed human growth. And the permeation of this belief to other areas is remarkably overflowing.

Indeed, doubt creeps easily that imagination is the only propeller of that giant concept to the arena of literature wherein giants surprisingly abound, in almost all bodies of literary works all over the world, particularly the ancient ones as sampled by epics and folkloric tales. Other than the mere act of forming mental images of gigantic human-like creatures, there must have been more compelling reasons for giving such beings a conspicuous status in literature, and that explanation could only come from their widely-marked presence. From epics to myths, from legends to fairy tales, these towering figures enormously abound, cutting across literary genres, and giving us insights into their roles played among human beings.

Departure from the giants' imaginary status into something realistic starts when one seriously considers the biblical view, which is supposed to be the most authoritative source of all. The Bible tells us that giants inhabited the earth-before (Gen. 6:4), that they were children of fallen angels who transformed themselves into human form and impregnated the daughters of men, and that they were extremely evil. After surveying the promised land, Joshua and his companions reported to Moses that the place was occupied by giants, that in terms of size, they were but "grasshoppers" compared to these occupants.

Josephus, the greatest of ancient historians, had this to say about giants in one of his accounts: "For which reason they removed their camp to Hebron; and when

Ending roots

In many aspects of life when man is confronted with problems, the tendency is to look for ways that will completely solve the problem. There are circumstances that happen beyond our control that put us in problematic situations. If we could only have our way, we would not want to encounter problems. But even with well planned goals, we still meet hitches that derail and deviate us from reaching the desired solution. In our efforts find the aptest solution, we tend to generate several options we consider as a way out of the problem. But the problem turns complicated with many possible solutions that choosing the aptest one become a problem. This reality is true across all facets of life. In the desire to get rid of problems, the idea of preventive measures that would bar the happening of the problem Where prevention is done, no problem would occur that will require solutions that turn into complications. The strategy of prevention had been espoused by various advocacy groups reaching to different audiences across the globe. Over the past years, people find the idea relevant and useful to the daily challenges of life. Knowing the intricacies of finding for the aptest solution even to the simplest problem, stopping

UNDP alarmed by Phil. insufficient R & D environmental fund

"Economic and ecological potential of the Philippines indigenous plant species remains untapped as a majority of its flora have yet to be discovered and studies, the United Nations Development Program (UNDP) has said."

Another equally horrible statement was issued in 2011 by the Conservation International (C I), "which placed the Philippines as one of the most threatened forest hotspots in the world, with only 7 % remaining of its original habitat. The country has lost more than 90% of its original forest habitat, which is home to more than a thousand species."

If we are to consider the data coming from the DENR (Department of Environment and Natural Resources which showed that "around 99 plant species are critically endangered, 187 are endangered, 176 are vulnerable and 64 are threatened", will find Plant Taxonomists (whose research activities involve the classification and identification of plant species), terribly disillusioned simply because the Philippine Flora are doomed to disappear even before these are studied, nay identified for their economic potentials. I am most affected by the aforementioned statements coming from UNDP and CI, including data from DENR on the state of forest trees. Barely two

DOH enlists youth leaders on their anti-smoking campaign

TACLOBAN CITY - The Department of Health (DOH) here in the region is hoping that the Sangguniang Kabataan (SK) officials will support on the anti-smoking campaign of the government.

Their agency's anti-smoking campaign has involved the youth as among their targets reason why they are soliciting support from the young leaders, Charisse Daya, regional tobacco control program coordinator of the DOH, said.

"We can tap the SK officials through their president(s) for training of peer educators who will form an organization of youth against tobacco smoking," Daya said.

The DOH, together with advocacy group Rights Network, conducted a forum at the Leyte National High School on June 11 highlighting the ill-effects on smoking and their appeal to local government units and private sector to support their campaign.

This call of the DOH immediately got the support from SK president Dean Aaron Lauron of Carigara, Leyte who said that he is willing to help on this campaign by ensuring that the anti-tobacco law will be implemented.

A self-confessed cigarette smoker, Lauron said that he started smoking when he was in high school and could consumed two packs of cigarette a day.

He, however, said that now that he is in college, he could only consumed a pack a day.

"This is a slow process. I'm doing it slowly," Lauron said.

He said that while there is already an anti-smoking ordinance in several local government units, smoking remain to be prevalent on these areas as the regulation is not strictly implemented.

The SK leader said he would come up with a program targeting the youth in their town on the ill-effects on smoking.

"The law is there but the enforcement is not strong. On my part, we are much willing to help in achieving the goal of making our town as smoke free with the help of DOH to attain this making into reality," Lauron said.

For his part, the president of the student council of LNHS, Jonathan Ramirez, issued an appeal to local government units and other government agencies and private institutions to ensure of a healthy and smoke-free environment for the youth.

"We believe that if we achieve in reducing the population of smokers in this city, this will result for a better and healthy environment for the youth. Smoking does not only affect our health, it also destroys our environment because cigarette filter is not easy to dissolve," Ramirez said.

"That is why we are urging all agency concern to enforce the law for the youth's welfare and to have a clean environment," he added.

Responding to Ramirez, Daya said that the DOH is strengthening their partnership with the Department of Education in the implementation of policy for a smoking ban as it is noticed that there are still vendors who sells cigarettes near school campuses. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Teacher plays an important role in child's development and in society

BY: MARIA VICTORIA VICENTUAN-DINGDING

For a woman who dreamt to become a Civil Engineer, responsible in constructing roads, bridges and other infrastructures, and be part in community development, I turned out to become a Head Teacher, running a school instead.

While my first ambition did not materialized, I still have no regrets as I will still give myself a pat on my back.

Why not?

As a Head Teacher, I am not just a part of a community but more so, I now serve as a guide and a moulder of character and personality not just among my teachers but to my students as well.

While my being a Head Teacher sometimes give me stressful days, and even nights, I don't actually mind.

In our school, Pag-sulhugon National High School, I am at the center of the wheel.

I have to balance the needs and demands of my teaching staff, the students, the school, and the community at large.

While my position in our school as its Head

Teacher is not only physically demanding but mentally draining and sometimes test my patience, I still chose to carry my works and responsibilities without any hesitation.

Credit goes to my training during the School Heads Development Program last January and February of this year held at Milka Hotel.

The training, consisting of several modules, was really a big help to me.

Module 1-3, for example, was focused on instructional leadership, organizational leadership and examplars.

Also, the training help become efficient and gained needed knowledge and skills. Thanks to our intelligent speakers and facilitators.

I really see to it that every day's work is done perfectly and on time.

I see to it that all my teachers could perform their respective tasks expected on them.

I am closely working with them to ensure that our students will turn out fine and get what they should gain while in school- knowledge.

Also, establishing a close relationship with both my teachers and students, we can achieve the vision, objectives and goals as enumerated by the Department of Education.

I must thank our schools division superintendent, Dr. Ronelo Al K. Firmo, for giving me the opportunity to manage a school, for his trust and confidence and for sending me to the said training.

Like an engineer in a construction work who is responsible in planning and in day to day building operations, my position as a School Head is designed to be an administrator and instructional leader who is responsible in daily operations of the school.

Though I did not become an Engineer, I am still happy that I became a Head Teacher.

I am at the central for child's development. I strongly believe that everything happen for a reason. Thanks God for making me a Teacher.

The PTA and the School

BY: CAROLYN T. ADVINCULA

Parent Teacher Association (PTA) is a school-based organization founded on the belief that involvement of parents in school, collaborating with teachers, will make the school a better place for children to learn.

Parents of students work together with teachers to volunteer in classes, raising money for school supplies and supports school's programs and projects.

For a school to perform well, it is important for teachers and parents to come together, to have good relationship with each other for the benefits of the students.

Promotion of the welfare of the children in home, school and community. Secure adequate policy for the care and protection of our children. Establish a closer relationship between the home and school so that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the education of the children in the purpose of the PTA.

You join PTA for your child benefits. When parents get connected to the school, children get better grades. Do better on tests, and have fewer discipline problems.

PTA meetings and get together are opportunities to meet other parents and teachers, to build rapport and discuss issues related to school. Learners' academic performance could be discussed with parents during PTA meetings.

Students flourish when supported by both teachers and parents.

When parents and teachers talk and work together effectively, it would result to students' long-term success.

According to Helen Keller "Alone we can do little; together we can do so much."

DPWH to widen primary road in Leyte

CAPOOCAN, Leyte - As part of the "Build, Build, Build" program of the government, the Department of Public Works and Highways is set to convert primary highway into a four-lane road, this town.

With a total budget of P90.6 million, the road widening and off-carriageway improvement will involve asphalt overlay on the 1,583.55 km length road link.

"To avoid complaints while undertaking the project, our office met the officials and affected residents in a pre-construction meeting to explain the program and scope of work of this project," clarified District Engineer Gerald Pacanan.

The district engineering office will also install 537.77-meter canal lining for an improved drainage and sewerage system to minimize flooding in the area.

"We commend the DPWH for holding a pre-construction meeting before starting the project. This gave us a clear understanding on the road-right-of-way law and their project plans and implementation," said Florence Misagal, chairwoman of Barangay Poblacion Zone 1.

This infrastructure program of the administration seeks to reduce poverty by generating jobs and attracting foreign investments through a more efficient transport of people and goods. (PR)

Senior high school in Leyte gets a three-storey classroom building from DPWH

JULITA, Leyte – The Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) Leyte field office here has recently completed the construction of a three-storey six-classroom school building at Julita Senior High School, this town.

According to school head Erlinda Daya, the new facility will be used as regular classrooms while the old buildings will be utilized as laboratories and office for teachers.

The school has a total of 308 enrollees for this year.

The high-rise building is worth P15 million funded under the Basic Educational Facilities Fund (BEFF) of 2018.

BEFF is an annual budget for school building program, which covers the improvement and maintenance of school facilities in the country.

“This building is provided with standard toilet and sanitary facilities, storage rooms and proper ventilation, each classroom installed with two oscillating ceiling fans. It is also equipped with fire alarm system and fire extinguisher,” said Engr. Gerald Pacanan, DPWH Leyte 2 district engineer.

He added that with the addition of junior and senior high, the number of students in high school has increased prompting the government to allocate more funds for school facilities.

“This is in support to the government’s strengthened education program. We, at the DPWH and in coordination with the Department of Education commit to provide more conducive learning facilities for students,” he ended.

Babatngon school prepares for Nutrition Month

BY: SHELLARICA C. ARINTO

Nutrition Month is around the corner and it's time to gear up with preparations. Gov. E. Jaro Elementary School (GEJES) in Babatngon, Leyte is already preparing for the month-long celebration of Nutrition Month in July which will be focusing on the theme "Kumain nang wasto at magin aktibo...push nation 'to!"

GEJES school head Valentin Trapela said this year's theme was approved by the National Nutrition Council Technical Committee, which is a call to action for Filipinos to practice healthy diet and engage in regular physical activity and reduce sedentary behaviors which go hand in hand.

Trapela added that the annual campaign every July will serve as an avenue to help individuals make informed food choices and be guided on how to integrate physical activity in daily life; jump-start or reinforce nutrition advocacies and policies; and mobilize stakeholders to provide an enabling environment for healthy diet and physical activity. Trapela said that in July will unravel a series of opportunities to achieve good health.

He stressed that the school will not only encourage students but also individuals, families, communities, national government agencies, local government units, and non-government organizations to participate in the campaign.

that it was closed already though my son told me that he heard about it," the 55 year old man from Barangay Cabalawan, this city, said.

It was learned that members of the Kapa described their invested money as a 'donation' and a 'blessing' if they are to receive the monthly interest of their money.

Rosendal has invested a total amount of P25,000 starting on March 22 of this year.

On Tuesday, he was to receive P15,000 as his blessing.

"I hope they will still operate and have my money back which I was supposed to use for the repair of my house," he said.

A woman who is from Pinabacdao, Samar was also scheduled to receive her blessing in the amount of P45,000, covering for three months of supposed interest, on Tuesday.

She made an investment of P50,000 March of this year.

She, too, was shocked that the Kapa office in Tacloban, located along Marasbaras District, was closed.

"It's supposed to be my first blessing. I hope I can still receive it," the 32-year old woman, who declined to give her name, said.

It was learned from her that she was encouraged to join the Kapa by her employer who plunk in P100,000 and was able to receive his monthly interest.

Another woman, who resides just within the area where the Kapa office is located, was also supposed to join it but discovered that it was also closed.

"I just thought that they are late in opening their office," she said.

The woman, who also declined to give her name, said that she heard a lot of 'good news' from her friends about the Kapa and how their money grew fast.

Asked if she will still put her money in an investment-scheme, the woman just smile.

The Kapa was said to first operate in Tacloban January of this year with more than 10,000 members from different parts of Eastern Visayas.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has ordered for the closure of Kapa, among others, for practicing pyramiding scheme.

Group asks government to enforce its anti-smoking law

TACLOBAN CITY- An advocacy group has called on the government to strictly enforce the tobacco-free community and control on the sales of tobacco policies.

Lolita Candaza, Katarungan Leyte spokesperson, said that their call to have the anti-smoking policy be strictly enforced came in the wake of several deaths among farmers blamed to excessive smoking.

"We call for a strict and serious implementation of program for those who wants to quit smoking and for every LGU to enact an ordinance banning the trade and use of cigarette in their locality," Candaza said.

"As a farmer and as a parents, we are at a point when we cannot get afford to get sick, much less inflicted with the health problem that comes from smoking, what with co-pra and palay prices at its level low and we are encountering many challenges in farm production," she added.

Candaza said that they also fear that the young generation could pick up the vice on smoking if the government will not really enforced Republic Act No. 9211, also known as the Tobacco Regulation Act of 2003, which regulates smoking in public places and selling, tobacco advertisement, promotion and sponsorship.

The law also prohibits the sale of tobacco products within 100 meters of schools, playgrounds, and other facilities frequented by minors and smoking in government offices.

It also prohibits LGU from receiving favor such as sponsorship from tobacco companies.

To encourage local government units in advocating for a tobacco-free environment, the Department of Health (DOH) created the Red Orchid Award in 2009, Charisse Daya, regional tobacco control program coordinator.

Since the Red Orchid was created by the DOH, several LGUs in the region have been awarded as hall Famers.

These are Maasin City and the towns of San Juan, Libagon, Pintuyan, Hinunangan and Anahawan in Southern Leyte and Naval in Bili-ran province.

Also in the list are Padre Burgos, Limasawa, San Francisco, and Silago in Southern Leyte, Ormoc City, and towns of San Antonio, Northern Samar and Arteche, Eastern Samar.

Babatngon Central School promotes scouting

BY: JOCELYN ESPANTA-ALCARAZ

Babatngon Central School is fully supportive of scouting movement as it believes that it is a laboratory of values, skills, and knowledge.

While these values could be learn within the corners of the classrooms, joining a scout movement will further enhance them to adhere these values and apply them on their day-to-day living.

The values, skills, and knowledge that a pupil learn as a member of the scout movement will forever be etched on him which the Filipino youth 'to invigorate their sense of nationalism and patriotism necessary in defending the State and further promote their role in nation-building.'

Those who are required to take the ROTC are students who are in Grade 11 and Grade 12.

Petilla said that during his visit in the barangays, he asked the people if they are 'willing' to sacrifice for the country's sake.

will make him a law abiding citizen of the country and always be of help to his fellow men.

Here at the Babatngon Central School, the number of learners joining the scout movement is increasing every year though it has yet to reach at a 100 percent level.

At present, the school has 60 Kid Scout members; 96 Cub Scout members and 128 Boy Scout members.

We have also advanced the rank of the boys.

Among Cub Scouts, 40 got the highest award of Leaping USA;30 Cab

Scouts for Growing USA and 26 Cub Scouts for Young USA.

In Boy Scouting, 24 of them got the highest rank of First Class rank; 40 of them got second class rank and 64 as tenderfoot rank.

We are campaigning for more membership because not only the more, the merrier but for our learners not only to develop but apply the Boy Scout principles.

(Note: The author is the teacher/scouter of the Babatngon Central School in Babatngon, Leyte)

He, however, acknowledge that parents may just raise their objection for this could cause additional cost for their students as those who will undergo ROTC classes will need to have a uniform.

NDF criticizes planned task force against insurgency of the Leyte provincial gov't

TACLOBAN CITY- The plan of the Leyte provincial government to create a task force to address its insurgency problem was criticized by the National Democratic Front (NDF) in Eastern Visayas as 'militarization of a civilian government.'

Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla had earlier said that he is mulling of forming a task force that will aim to address the insurgency problem in Leyte.

The task force will involve, aside from the Philippine National Police and Philippine Army, provincial government agencies like social welfare, education, agrarian reform, interior and local government, and health, among others.

A guideline for this purpose has yet to be drawn, it was learned.

Aside from addressing the insurgency problem, the task force will also be designed to help address the poverty incidence, particularly in the rural villages where there are presence of the rebel group.

But this plan of the provincial government received criticism from the NDF describing it as militarization of civilian government.

"In the guise of the 'whole of nation/government' approach, this local task force will actually undermine the civilian government by subordinating it to the military," Fr. Santiago Salas, NDF-EV spokesperson, said in a press statement.

He added that this task force will only 'further encourage political repression of the legal democratic movement and all political opposition.'

"Through this task force, the provincial government gives license to soldiers to commit extra-judicial killings, political harassment like red-tagging, torture, arbitrary arrest and detention, and other violations of human rights, international humanitarian law and even the 1987 constitution. Instead of addressing the roots of armed struggle in the province, Leyte Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla takes refuge in a purely militarist solution to counter insurgency," Salas said.

Ormoc...

The Taclobanons mounted a comeback but their efforts went to naught as they ran into a maze of errors in the final few seconds.

The rubber match was played after the rivals split the first two games of the best of three finals.

The Jaguars took game 1, 88-82, but Ormoc came back strong in game 2, trashing Tacloban, 96-74, to tie the series.

Ormoc's Rino Ramirez was named as the Season II Most Valuable Player.

This face-off was a rematch of the Season I finals wherein Ormoc swept Tacloban in the championship round, 2-0.

Albuera, Isabel, Abuyog and Jaro also joined the second season games. (KEVIN A. SIOSANA)

GEJES promotes laro ng lahi

By SHELLARICA C. ARINTO

For two years now, Gov. E. Jaro Elementary School (GEJES) in Babatngon, Leyte has been promoting traditional Filipino games or “laro ng lahi.”

GEJES School Head Valentin Trapela said laro ng lahi has been included in the school’s annual sports fests to inspire the revival of traditional Filipino games.

Trapela said the inclusion of laro ng lahi is aimed at helping educate more of the young children about the benefits they will gain from playing traditional games. He said that, with the promotion of traditional Filipino games, GEJES school-children can be steered towards more strenuous and healthier physical activity during their free time.

Some of the local games introduced during the sports fest include luskong tinik, sipa, luk-song baka, kadang, among others. Citing a study, Trapela said that traditional outdoor Filipino games are not only a good source of exercise but can also help develop children’s gross motor skills. He added that the revival of outdoor Filipino games where today’s children can learn more about traditional games, develop new skills, and have fun all at the same time.

they had taken it, they slew all the inhabitants. There were till then left the race of giants, who had bodies so large, and countenances so entirely different from other men, that they were surprising to the sight, and terrible to the hearing. The bones of these men are still shown to this very day, unlike to any credible relations of other men. Now they gave this city to the Levites as an extraordinary reward. “

Archaeology yields abundant proofs that giants indeed roamed the earth. Reports of these finds come from different parts of the world. And although these are being hidden from public knowledge due to their nature that points to the Bible as accurate and goes against Darwinian evolution, leaks still spread far and wide. Discoveries of giant skulls and bones that resemble those of humans abound in various places all over the world. Some of these that appear in social media are hoaxes, but some are for real, and genuine.

On and on, we can cite traces of giants in ancient construction engineering, in ancient media reports, in ancient sports, in ancient warfare, and many others. Now this question: why bother ourselves with those tales about giants when we are already in modern times? Well, we can prove some things out of their existence, one of which is the fallacy of evolution, and the truism of the Bible.

months ago, I spoke about the sad state of Taxonomy and Taxonomists in the Philippines as Plenary Speaker during the First National Congress on R & D Research organized by the Eastern Visayas State University in Tacloban City. In my paper, I emphatically expressed the dire need of enhancing Biological research in the Philippines by revisiting the Academic curricula by the DepEd and CHED.

The UNDP has expressed willingness to make available $36 million annually for the Philippines to conduct what it terms as sustainable bioprospecting of its forests and indigenous tree species - activity that would entail the services of academically founded and trained Filipino plant taxonomists.

Corollary to the UNDP move is for the Philippine Government to increase its budgetary allotment for the DOST from a measly 0.1 percent of the country's GDP to at least 1 % per recommendation by UNSECO. Of the DENR's P27.14 billion budget, it can only assign at least P6 billion for its flagship forest program, the Enhanced National Greening Program. One hardly understands for a country considered by the Convention on Biological Diversity as one of the most biodiverse countries in the world, owning two-thirds of the Earth's biodiversity, given a shabby treatment by its policy-makers and national leaders in terms of budgetary allocation.

Do I expect the 'new faces' in the Lower and Upper Houses of Congress to get a bigger bucket for the environmental R & D fund of the country? Let's cross our fingers and hope for a better science atmosphere.

holy mother Church, relying on the belief of the Apostles, holds that the books of both the Old and New Testaments in their entirety, with all their parts, are sacred and canonical because written under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, they have God as their author and have been handed on as such to the Church herself.

"In composing the sacred books, God chose men and while employed by Him they made use of their powers and abilities, so that with Him acting in them and through them, they, as true authors, consigned to writing everything and only those things which He wanted..."

As to how to interpret the Bible, the same document has this to say: "Since God speaks in Sacred Scripture through men in human fashion, the interpreter of Sacred Scripture, in order to see clearly what God wanted to communicate to us, should carefully investigate what meaning the sacred writers really intended, and what God wanted to manifest by means of their words."

Given this description about the inspired character of the Bible and about how it has to be interpreted, we cannot help but realize that the reading the gospel, while using all technical means to understand it properly, like examining the "literary forms" that can be historical, prophetic, poetic, etc., will require us to pray, to beg the Holy Spirit to enlighten us, etc.

We have to fight against the usual dangers regarding gospel-reading. This can be, first of all, laziness, treating it only as a historical or literary or cultural work, lack of faith, etc. Definitely, reading and meditating on the gospel will also require of us a spirit of sacrifice, since it will demand effort and self-denial.

It might be a good idea to promote this practice of gospel-reading first of all in the family and in the schools. Children should be trained in it as early as possible.

SWU PHINMA MODERNIZES MEDICAL EDUCATION

To further enhance the learning experience of its medical students, the Southwestern University PHINMA recently acquired a state-of-the-art anatomy table for its School of Medicine called the Sectra Table.

A table-sized, multi-touch medical screen that promotes interactive learning and critical thinking, the Sectra Table comes with an anatomy atlas and numerous medical cases. It allows users to easily explore and examine virtual representations of real bodies in minute detail. It gives both teachers and students deeper understanding and insights on anatomy and the processes inside the body.

3D images are also quickly and smoothly rendered from data provided by CT and MR scans. With clearer medical images inclusive of 3D renderings plus access to multiple medical cases, students will be able to appreciate anatomical variations.

The Sectra Table is stationed at the School of Medicine housed within the new PHINMA Hall. Other than the classrooms and several laboratories all over the building, the PHINMA Hall also houses the administrative offices and the university library on the ground floor.

According to Dean Peter Aznar, "The Sectra Table is an added boost to SWU PHINMA School of Medicine's long-standing reputation of educating and training future world-class physicians who foster groundbreaking innovations through research to continuously improve the delivery of healthcare."

SWU PHINMA School of Medicine is the only medical school within the Visayas and Mindanao to own the the Sectra Table. It is made by Sectra, a leading global provider of imaging IT solutions that promotes patient-centric care among physicians and healthcare professionals.
